

Rush Connect and Care - Privacy Policy

This privacy policy describes how Rush Connect and Care (RCC) collects, uses, and protects personal information in accordance with the Australian Privacy Principles and relevant NDIS requirements. This document should be reviewed periodically for updates.

Information We Collect

We may collect personal information including identity details, contact information, NDIS participant number, health and disability details, representative details, service records, and financial information.

How We Collect Information

Personal information may be collected directly from participants, their representatives, through referrals, from other service providers, or via our website forms and communications.

Purposes of Collection

We collect information to assess eligibility and suitability of supports, deliver NDIS services, schedule and manage bookings, maintain records, invoice and bill, and comply with legal obligations.

Disclosure of Information

Personal information may be disclosed to plan managers, support coordinators, other providers, RCC staff, professional advisers, IT service providers, and relevant government bodies. We do not sell personal information.

Overseas Disclosure

RCC will only transfer personal information overseas with participant consent or where required by law. When data is stored electronically overseas, we ensure safeguards are in place.

Storage and Security

Information is stored in secure systems. We use password-protected databases and limit access to authorised personnel. Paper files are kept in locked cabinets.

Access and Correction

Participants have the right to request access to and correction of their personal information. Requests should be submitted in writing and will be addressed promptly.

Complaints and Data Breaches

Complaints regarding privacy should be made in writing to RCC. We will investigate and respond. In the event of a data breach, we will follow the NDIS and OAIC requirements, including notification if necessary.

Updates

This policy may be updated from time to time. The most current version will be available on our website.
